

Dr Thiago R. Oliveira

PERSONAL SUMMARY

I am a socio-legal researcher who draws on theories from sociology, law and society, and social psychology to understand how legal institutions reproduce social inequality and criminalization through legal cynicism. Currently, I am Senior Lecturer (Associate Professor) in the Department of Criminology of the University of Manchester (UK). Drawing on methods from demography, econometrics, and epidemiology, my research shows how encounters with legal authority accumulate over the life course and across neighborhoods to shape people's cultural orientations toward the law.
